

*Honor
Nancy Grundahl
by supporting our
New Commission Music Fund*

In celebration of her retirement this spring, we are excited to announce the “Nancy Grundahl Commissioned Music Fund” which will support new music written just for our Angelica singers.

About this fund:

Angelica has a strong tradition of commissioning music for our singers from composers such as Malcolm Dalglish, Tim Takach, Dan Kallman, and Steve Heitzeg; composers who understand the complexity of writing for singers of a wide variety of ages and musical abilities, and who enjoy the challenge of finding a text that will resonate with children of varying degrees of maturity and understanding. Our singers benefit from learning and performing a piece that has been written especially for them. This new fund honors Nancy Grundahl, who has dedicated her talents to our young singers through her artistic leadership for 25 years and who has composed countless original works for our choirs. By creating this fund in her name, we ensure that new choral works will be written especially for our young singers -- music that will challenge them and instill the values of creativity, craft, and fresh ideas.
